2011 Lamp Yearbook Dedication

Professor Neil Hatem

Professor Hatem has been a familiar face at Lasell for years, and students have grown to know and love his passion for teaching and commitment to student success. Professor Hatem is active both inside and outside the classroom with teaching, philanthropic work, tutoring, and supporting Lasell Athletics and events.

In the classroom, Professor Hatem encourages students to push themselves in a subject that few would call a favorite: Math. Somehow, he always finds a way to make the class interesting, and his genuine caring about student success makes it clear that he will go above and beyond to help you understand. Professor Hatem also works with the Honors Program. His classes have helped not only students, but outside communities through work with various non-profit organizations. He has taken students to help in New Orleans to assist in relief efforts after Hurricane Katrina and to work with Habitat for Humanity in Martha's Vineyard. Professor Hatem helps us learn much more than how to do a math problem. He has taught us what it means to be dedicated and to give back.

Professor Hatem is always a familiar face at campus events. He loves basketball, and can often be found on the court playing or on the sidelines at games. He has been a welcoming face for incoming first year students at orientation, supported the first ever Relay for Life this year, and wished seniors farewell at Senior Week events. His commitment to student life at Lasell is very evident, and we love seeing him out on campus.

For your dedication, support, enthusiasm, and overall appreciation and involvement within the campus and student body. We thank you. Professor Hatem, for everything.
